THE GLASS OF FASHION. What the Bear Creatures are Wearing.

The London Queen, in its Paris correspondence, October 24th, says the two colors likely to be fashionable during the winter are both becoming to brunes; at the same time they have been adopted by blondes, simply because they do not find Ribbons, Flowers, & Dress Trimings, them unbecoming. A woman with golden hair is the ideal type of beauty, and every color should become her. Poppies and corn flowers are very effective, with waving corn. The two fashionable colors are ruby of all shades, from the light rubuis bolai, as it is called, to the dark garnet, named macassa; the second favorite is yellow, from the marigold shade, up to the dye called Aurora, which is a very pale tint.

Invitations for balls, receptions, etc., are now gotten up on silks and satins. The "Marie Autoinette" is the new style of breakfast slippers for ladies. It selected is made of black kid, with very high, harrow heels, is high and pointed at the back, and is cut with a flap upon the ling business, and competent workmen emfront of the foot, which is ornamented with a strap and buckle.

Young ladies are having indoor dres- apl25ses made of scarlet or blue merino, to be worn with fancy over-dresses of black dresses are low and trimmed with ruffles of the same. They are rounded at the sides and looped up high with bows of Mademoiselle Bataillon, of the Rue de Chabannis, gives the following pattern for an evening dress : The plain high top of this robe with a half train and draped double skirt, is of gray Foulard cut square at the neck, the latter being supplied with a chemise of transparent muslin puffs and sleeves of the same: CONFECTIONARY & BEER SALOON round the lower edge of the skirt goes a flounce, 6 8 inches wide, of the same s'uff as the dress; the rest of the trimming consists of lilac silk stripes and lisilk bows of the skirt trimming. The thankful for a liberal share of patronage style of this dress can also serve as a pattern for one of the so much admired
